

A representative of CRP Architects, designers of the new MA secondary school, said that the design was inspired by earth, sky, and pine trees. To add a sense of movement to the building, special dichroic glass is embedded in some of the railings and other features. The glass reflects in several colors as one passes.

A representative of the construction company for the new school showed a construction schedule. He said that, despite delays caused by weather, the school will open in August. The crew is working 10-hour shifts and weekends.

Board Secretary Tiffiney Upchurch asked about traffic concerns.

MA Board President Mark McWilliams responded that the Colorado Department of Transportation has seen no problem, but an official will soon come to evaluate one ingress from Highway 83 and two egresses from Walker Road. In this way, vehicles leaving the site will not have to accelerate quickly onto the highway.
