

Two new liquor license applications discussed

The council unanimously approved co-owner Julie Wetzel's request for a transfer of ownership and liquor license from the previous business operating in this location and approved a new business license for Dale Street LLC, doing business as The Parked Pierogi, 292 S. Highway 105. The other owners are Nicole Schoenfeld and Chris Williamson. They will serve breakfast on Saturdays and Sundays only, but in the future they hope to serve lunch and have a food truck.

The council unanimously approved a new business license and designated the "neighborhood" for the boundary for a new liquor license survey for La Rosa Mexican restaurant as all homes and businesses in the "1,100 feet radius from the former B&E building." The B&E restaurant liquor license had run out, so a new application was required, according to Town Attorney Larry Gaddis.

La Rosa's owner Marina La Riva requested that the council meet again on Nov. 28, exactly 30 days after the liquor license application, just to hear testimony from the "neighborhood," instead of waiting to do so at the regular town meeting, so that the business can operate with the liquor license sooner.

New business license approved

The council unanimously approved the new business license for Faith Ferguson's Vogue Hair Studio, an in-home business in the basement of her house behind the West End Center, with a separate entrance from the rest of her home.

Committee reports

Mayor McDonald described plans for the Chili Dinner and Star Lighting Festival held on Nov. 24.

Trustee Davis presented the Parks and Recreation report. Recent town staff work included removing trash at EPC Park, raking and clearing limbs around the library, adding crack sealant to the tennis courts, and installing Christmas lights at the Gazebo.

Police Trustee Bob Grado noted 45 high-risk incidents and a total of 162 calls for October. He said Palmer Lake officer Adam Lundy "responded to a burglary in progress on Oct. 30 with the Sheriff's Office," and two suspects were arrested. The sheriff "recovered a bunch of items and solved a whole rash of burglaries."

The Water Committee report given by McDonald said the town averaged "145,000 gallons per day of water use, with a single-day high of 245,000 gallons" in October.

Fire Trustee Rich Kuehster said there were 31 fire calls, for a total of 329 this year. Volunteer firefighters have worked 25,154 hours so far this year. "Those guys just give their hearts over there," Kuehster said. Work included Walk the Kids to School day, medical standbys for Landsharks Running Club, annual Open House, Fire Prevention Day at PLES, and the Flight for Life appreciation barbecue at Penrose/St. Francis. On Halloween, the volunteer firefighters gave out candy and did safety patrols.

Roads Trustee Davis said the staff had graded roads in the Glen, smoothed speed bump areas on the school bus routes, and continues to repair potholes. The staff has begun training some part-time workers for snow removal, prepped equipment for winter use, and ordered 50 tons of anti-skid material. They have painted new stripes, installed new flexible delineators, and added lane designations at some intersections, and mounted a new "Snow Alert" sign on County Line Road.

The vacant road supervisor position on town staff has not been filled. Davis said, "There is no one patrolling right now
