Donala Water and Sanitation District Board Candidate Statements

The Donala Water and Sanitation District is holding an election (at the district's office on Holbein Drive) for board members on May 8. Six candidates are vying for three board positions. Each was asked to respond to the following two questions:

1. What in your background would help you as a Donala board member?
2. What do you think are the two greatest issues facing the district and what would you propose the district should do to deal with them?

The following are the answers we received from the candidates, printed with very little editing.

Bill George

(incumbent; four-year term)

In my 38-year military career, wherever an assignment took me, I endeavored to be a contributing member of that community. In each case, there was a learning curve, allowing me to see what was important to the community and also giving me a focus on how I could better serve its needs. My educational background in business administration, along with my career experience, gives me the ability to better understand the business aspects of water management, which I have applied during the past four years on the Donala board. The district's offices are across from our home and, prior to running for the board in 2008, I attended board meetings regularly to better understand the details of water management.

The greatest issue facing the district is the acquisition of renewable, and affordable, sources of water. The Denver Basin of aquifers is not an endless supply. The district has satisfied 20 percent of its need with the purchase of Willow Creek Ranch near Leadville and completed the water court process changing the water use from "agricultural" to "municipal" in late 2011. An equally important agreement with Colorado Springs Utilities now allows the district to receive water through a recently completed connection at Northgate Road.

The second issue is equally important. We must make every effort to use these water resources as wisely as possible. The district emphasizes conservation and xeriscaping, and has resources available to help constituents make water-wise decisions that will save money and create attractive neighborhoods.

Ken Judd

(appointed in September to fill a vacancy;
four-year term)

I have lived in the district for 15 years and am a retired
