

Tri-Lakes directors should be recalled. On July 5, Pocock said, "... I sent out an email to ... let's see, that went to Rog, Barbara, John, and Bruce and said well, it's kinda up to you ... you guys vote..."

After Pocock denied that both his emailed and verbal requests had ever occurred and that there was board consensus, including consensus from Ingram and Wilson on July 5, to have the board recall Ingram and Wilson, Ingram dropped the matter on July 25. The July 5 Tri-Lakes minutes still do not mention Pocock's emailed request prior to this meeting, his added verbal request during the July 25 meeting, and the board's consensus to have the board recall Ingram and Wilson.

On Aug. 6, the Sibells withdrew their recall petition against Hildebrandt. By mid-August, Pocock was reportedly the only one who remained as the focus of the recall procedure.

Pocock's letter of resignation from the Tri-Lakes board was read at the Aug. 22 board meeting.

a resolution for submitting the ballot issue in the Nov. 6 general election.

The directors and Battalion Chief Bryan Jack, who is acting fire chief, discussed options such as letting personnel go and closing a fire station if the tax increase proposal fails. They considered publicizing that failure of the proposal could lead to increased response times.

Nothing was mentioned about the adoption or reconsideration of the previously discussed 5 percent across-the-board pay increase for district employees or the $500 monthly pay increase for the office manager mentioned by Pocock at a previous meeting.

There was a short discussion concerning the Inter-governmental Agreement with the county to cover the expenses of the district's portion costs to place the tax increase proposal on the ballot. It was noted that the cost to the district would be $25,000. Jack said part of that money could come from the firefighters residency program. Board members said they would determine other sources later.
