riculum is ongoing to ensure there are no major overlaps of material from one grade to the next.

New reading and math materials and software will be purchased by June 30 to assist those students with high growth gaps. These materials will be used in teacher training for summer and fall of 2013.

The district will advertise the availability of math tutors to students, and some tutors will be hired, Benton said.

The district also will select a writing skills improvement program by August, and training in its use will begin in September.

The district continues to be accredited with distinction, placing it in the top tier of districts statewide.

The UIP document results reflect the fact that recent budget cuts have decreased the amount of support available to those students struggling with specific academic areas.

The District Accountability Advisory Committee meets at 7 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. Locations vary. The next meeting will be on May 14 at the district's Learning Center, 146 Jefferson St., Monument.

Lewis-Palmer Special Education Advisory Council, April 10

Group prepares for Extended School Year instruction

By Harriet Halbig

Acknowledging that the end of the school year is near, on April 10 the Special Education Advisory Council discussed such issues as summer programs, transition, and communicating about special education students to their teachers.

May Anne Fleury, director of Exceptional Student Services for School District 38, said that she has asked to receive eligibility information for Extended School Year (ESY) programs by April 15. Eligibility is based on need
