

tributaries and/or stormwater runoff, a dramatic drop from the substantially high March results from non-point sources.

Manager reports

Woodmoor's Assistant District Manager Randy Gillette reported that Woodmoor's wastewater flows, which "were up considerably" due to the heavy rain flows of early May, had begun to "taper off" to normal. "We have had a lot of sump pumps running" but no water main failures.

Financial reports

Burks reported that the Tri-Lakes facility's annual cost of reporting data through AF CURE to the state and EPA would increase by $400 for reporting the expanded array of basin baseline study data.

The financial reports were unanimously accepted as presented.

The meeting adjourned at 11:52 a.m.

The next meeting will be held at 10 a.m. on July 14 at the Tri-Lakes facility's conference room, 16510 Mitchell Ave. Meetings are normally held on the second Tuesday of the month. Information for these meetings is available at 481-4053.

Triview Metropolitan District, June 9

New director appointed; water infrastructure study approved

By Lisa Hatfield

At the June 9 meeting of the Triview Metropolitan District, the directors agreed to join a local water infrastructure engineering study for northern El Paso County and appointed a new board member to fill the position vacated by Missy Franklin, who moved out of the district in May.

District joins infrastructure study

Jessie Shaffer, district manager of Woodmoor Water and Sanitation District and president of the Pikes Peak Regional Water Authority (PPRWA), made a presentation asking the district if they would like to participate in the PPRWA regional water supply infrastructure project preliminary engineering study for Area 3 Facilities. He encouraged Triview to join five other water entities in sharing the cost for the preliminary engineering study for northern El Paso County: the Town of Monument, the Town of Palmer Lake, Woodmoor Water and Sanitation District, Donala Water and Sanitation District, and Cherokee Metropolitan District. The City of Fountain is also participating.

Shaffer explained that the overall cost for this study from Forsgren will be around

$165,000, but $126,000 in grant money may be available from the Colorado Water Conservation Board ($100,000) and the Arkansas Basin Roundtable ($26,000) to offset the amount of money the six local participants need to contribute ($39,000.)

Colorado Springs Utilities

(CSU) is not participating in this study since it is already building the Southern Delivery System, Shaffer said.

Renewable surface water will become more a more important water supply as Denver Basin groundwater becomes more expensive to produce and treat.
