

deputy superintendent due to the complexities of Triview’s water systems.

Secretary/Treasurer Marco Fiorito said that as new information was gathered, it would be posted on the district website and sent in a letter mailed to all district residents within the next month.

District staffing will increase by one

After a discussion, the directors unanimously directed Valerie Remington to start the hiring process for a Level C water operator and authorized the addition of one additional full-time employee.

Water restriction policy and fines

Some residents thought Triview would be discussing a water rate increase at this meeting, but that was not the case. The “Notice to Amend Water Rate Assessments” listed on the agenda was necessary because it involved fines that could be attached to residents’ water bills, and so technically that was considered a rate increase.

The directors decided to adopt a policy using a combination of old and new water restriction levels with a series of warnings and fines based on the number of violations. Residents would just need to know which “Level” was in effect:

- Level 1 – Oct. 1-April 30 – no restrictions
- Level 2 – May 1-Sept. 30 – three nights a week based on address: two warnings, then fines of $50, $100, $200
